Objective

In the Finance for Non-Finance Managers course, individuals, irrespective of their non-financial backgrounds, gain essential financial skills for decision-making or strategising within an organisation. The training covers interpreting financial statements, budget analysis, cost management, and practical financial planning. The course addresses the crucial need for effective communication of financial information to non-finance stakeholders, fostering collaboration across departments. This program is vital as it equips non-finance professionals to contribute meaningfully to strategic discussions, budget processes, and daily operations, creating a more financially informed and collaborative workplace. It empowers participants with the confidence to navigate financial complexities and support overall business success.
